SEETO TRANSPORT INVESTMENT CONFERENCE - TRINCON 2011

Hotel Holiday Inn, Sarajevo,

April 19th, 2011

Background

Developing transport infrastructure in the Western Balkans is vital both for the local economies and for the entire EU. A glance at a map of Europe shows the Western Balkans lying at the heart of some of the most potentially vibrant and dynamic transit links between southern and northern Europe and western and eastern Europe.

In parallel with the EU's on-going review of its overall Trans European Network for Transport (TEN-T), the Western Balkan countries are examining their core transport network and preparing the priority investments that will serve to strengthen both the transport network in the region and ensure crucial connections with the EU network.

This process is being conducted under the auspices of the South East Europe Transport Observatory (SEETO), the regional transport organization established by the Memorandum of Understanding for the development of the Core Regional Transport Network signed in June 11th, 2004 by the Governments of Albania, Bosnia and Herzegovina, Croatia, the former Yugoslav Republic of Macedonia, Montenegro and Serbia and the United Nations Interim Administration Mission in Kosovo (UNMIK) and the European Commission. See www.seeto.int.org for further information.

Objectives of the conference

The overall objective of this event is to expedite the development of a high quality pipeline of top priority investments in the transport sector that can subsequently be realised jointly by governments and investors.

This high-level conference, that is organised by SEETO in cooperation with the Ministry of Communications and Transport of Bosnia and Herzegovina, will provide International Financial Institutions (IFIs), private investors, transport related companies and the EC, a "One Stop Shop" style opportunity to review with officials from the Regional Participants' governments, the status of the top priority transport infrastructure investments under preparation in the region. Thanks to SEETO's unique regional and EU accession perspective, investors will be able to assess the selected projects in terms of their overall contribution to national, regional and EU transport networks.

The conference will be an interactive event that will allow potential investors to highlight to governments, the fundamental elements that they require in any project for it to be considered as "bankable" and thus worth pursuing. It will also provide excellent opportunities for networking with the main stakeholders in the development of the transport network in the Western Balkans.
